

“For the LORD is good and His love endures forever;
His faithfulness continues through all generations.” (Psalm 100: 5)

September 2015, “Balshi Min Hon” 2nd Season

This year, our TV program has developed in a special way in increasing number of viewers and followers. The new season focuses on different aspects of a “Balanced Life”. Remarkably, the show is enriched by real stories of women who shared their hearts and struggles. Real-life, practical issues were featured, to include: Life Roles, the Wheel of Life, Working alone or in groups, Spiritual Balance, Work, Service, Friendship, Body language and Etiquette.

The shooting took place at SAT-7 studios in Beirut, Lebanon and the broadcast started this September 2015. We are so excited to see this program reach out to women in the Arab world and beyond. God is at work.

“Brilliant work! Nice, realistic and clear dialogue and discussion. The suggested solutions opened channels for thinking and rescheduling.”

Generating a new class of Jordanian woman

In an approach to target young ladies from the community with our Jordan Women workshops (JW) and through the cooperation of one of our volunteers and beneficiaries, nine college girls from Al-Balqa Applied University in Jordan had the chance to attend four sessions of our program.

The girls learned a tremendous amount about themselves. They communicated openly about their real-life experiences after applying and sharing the material with family and close friends. Topics included: Differences between men and women; effects of early upbringing; personality types (DISC); and love languages.

Some clips of our TV discipleship program materials were shared during the sessions, and a special FB group was created specifically for following up with the ladies. One of our sessions became emotional when one of the ladies approached her friend for reconciliation, marked by a loving hug.

“My brother told me that he can see a change in me. He said that I am becoming more aware, warm and understanding.”

“Your teaching is practical and makes a difference; I can apply what you teach us to my life situations. I learned also that we do not live others’ experiences.”

“I am acquiring new skills; I started to work on my character and to use what I learn to approach people in a better way. I used to not care at all about the way others react or feel, but now I started to think twice and see where I can improve.”

Ministry News - Outreach and Training

• Bridges between parents and children

We had the opportunity to work with 130 secondary school students who sat attentively, listening and discussing the "Differences in opinion between parents and children". The session took place last July during a youth camp in the Gilead area in Al-Salt, Jordan. Good interaction enhanced the panel discussion while other private conversations took place.

• Dialogue of Democracy

This title was given to the Creative Learning Methods training that the AWT team, along with 10 other trainees from the educational field, attended at Sharm el-Sheikh, Egypt in June. The training was arranged by the Pentecostal Mission Union (PMU) of Sweden, addressing techniques for learning, teaching, communication and creativity. Since the training was administered in a practical format, it was influential and applicable.

"Celebrating our Humanitarian Heroes!"

On World Humanitarian Day, this web headline was posted on Tearfund's website, a UK Christian relief and development agency partner, to give thanks to amazing women and men giving their all to help those who need help the most.

The ACCTS Relief team is among those heroes. Distributions from June to September covered 2000 food packages, cash/voucher assistance to 1125 families, 630 hygiene packages, and 75 packages of non-food items.

During Aug. and Sep. of 2015, we were able to reach 300 Syrian Refugee women through Psychosocial Workshops (also referred to as Social-Emotional Workshops or SEW).

AWT coaches prayed with two ladies. One of the ladies took a bible and asked for the coach's contact information, remarking that "It's impossible that I won't be one of you."

A Syrian young lady shared,

“ I was a victim of early marriage. I lived for years with mixed feelings of fear, anger, sadness, bitterness and pain. But now you helped me release them. My feelings changed toward my husband; on one hand I began to see the positive image in him and to behave in a better way, and on the other hand he himself started to pay attention to the smallest details in our lives. I will not allow my daughter to suffer as I did. I'll make sure she completes her studies. ”

We praise the Lord for:

- The launching of our second season of the "Balshi Min Hon" Satellite Television Program
- Allowing us to reach large numbers of wounded refugees and share Christ love with them
- The stability of our country Jordan despite the turmoil surrounding us, which gives us an opportunity to work with women inside and outside Jordan

Please support us in prayer for:

- The rest of the year's ministry activities to be fruitful
- The arrangements and success of our upcoming eleventh Annual Network Conference in October
- New resources to support humanitarian aid to the refugees, with particular emphasis on food supplies
